

Basic Tax Workshops for UCSF Students

Tuesday, February 28 5:30 to 6:30 in N721 or Thursday March 2, 2017 5:30 to 6:30pm in N517

Wondering if you should or if you must file a tax return? Did you get a 1098-t tax form in the mail and wonder what it means? The Student Financial Aid Office of UCSF is offering two basic tax workshops for UCSF students to answer these questions. Filing requirements, what is taxable in scholarships, grants, and/or stipends will be covered, as well as other education-related tax benefits. A guide to some free resources to help you file will be included. Special note: This workshop will not address other tax questions – the Financial Aid Office personnel are not tax experts and cannot advise you on other tax topics. Attendance is limited to 60 students at each session.

To register visit <http://tinyurl.com/UCSF-tax>